

Diabetes and pancreatic cancer, 14/01/2026

Jeni Jones – Specialist Pancreatic Cancer Nurse, Pancreatic Cancer UK

Jeni has been nursing for 32 years and has spent the past seventeen years working in cancer care, including the care of people with pancreatic cancer. She has worked in the areas of chemotherapy, palliative care and clinical trials and is experienced in providing support to patients, families, and friends.

Laura McGeenry- Diabetes Specialist Dietitian, Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Trust

Laura is a Diabetes Specialist Dietitian, having previously worked as a Pancreatic Specialist Dietitian for the past 13 years. This new diabetes knowledge and experience combines with a deep knowledge of nutrition and pancreatic disease to particularly support people with both. She is secretary of Nutrition Interest Group of the Pancreatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland and co-lead of the Nursing and AHP programme at the CRUK Cambridge Centre. She was the dietitian on the Guideline Committee for the Pancreatic Cancer NICE guideline and has written guidelines and patient information on many aspects of the nutritional management of pancreatic disease.

Anna Burton - Senior Specialist Pancreatic Dietitian, Leeds Teaching Hospital

Anna is a Senior Specialist Surgical Pancreatic Dietitian at Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust part time. Anna graduated from Queen Margaret University, Edinburgh in 1997 with a BSc Hons degree in Nutrition and Dietetics. Since then, Anna has gained 26 years' experience in clinical dietetics. In 2000 Anna joined the dietetic department at St James's Hospital, Leeds specialising in gastrointestinal surgery and parenteral nutrition. Pancreatic surgical dietetics won Anna's heart and she has jointly led the very busy pancreatic dietetic service since 2007 in Leeds. Anna completed a PGdip in Advanced Nutrition from Leeds Beckett University in 2019.

Vicki Alabraba - Clinical Education and Training Specialist, Insulet International Ltd

More information coming soon.